In today’s construction economy, we have seen price fluctuations, labor shortages, material demand, and a surplus of projects being bid. In a range of construction types from highways, to industrial parks, to increased need for school facilities for the pent up demand from the recession. How have these impacted average school facility dollar cost? How has the industry been impacted with regard to quality of work? How has the industry been impacted by material and product usage? Join the panel discussion of industry professionals next month and see!
