Transformative Design for Aging School Facilities

PRESENTERS:
BRYAN BIRD, BETHANY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PRINCIPAL
DAN HOLT, PERKINS+WILL

Renovation projects are becoming increasingly popular as many school districts are running out of space and budget to build new facilities and are being forced to update existing structures. With the right balance of creativity, ingenuity and design, renovating an existing school facility can be just as transformative and effective as building a new one. Come check out the transformation of Bethany Elementary School, originally built in 1992, that has undergone a complete, multi-phase transformation on both the interior and exterior, while re-using existing space to save cost.
