One design feature that schools may overlook is branding. When it comes to student enrollment and teacher recruitment, effective branding can dramatically increase the number of people interested in an academic institution. A consistent brand identity can create an emotional connection, spike curiosity, and help one school stand out from all the rest. Bishop Lynch High School recently rebranded and has been incorporating it into their new and renovated facilities.

Come check out the new and improved Bishop Lynch High School!