

PEAK DESIGN AWARDS
KENT DENVER MIDDLE SCHOOL

A new middle school project for Kent Denver School, a college preparatory institution serving students from 6th through 12th grade located in Englewood, Colorado.

The facility is an inspiration. Carrie Green, the Head of the Middle School noted,

"The new building elevates, articulates, and celebrates community. Our spaces and how we move between them are now opportunities for connection. There is movement in our building like no other I've ever experienced. Such movement creates momentum and a community with momentum is a force to be reckoned with. I'm excited to see how we continue to live in this beautiful space and make it ours."
